JOHN LOCKWOOD, Marshal.

The Kenosha "Wide-Awakes."

The News of yesterday gives currency to the charge that the Kenosha Wide-Awakes disturbed the Douglas meeting at that place, on Saturday night, and purposely interrupted the "Little Giant" while he was addressing the people at the railroad station. The charge is utterly without foundation. We have already given to our readers the facts of the case. The Wide-Awakes of Kenosha, like their brethren everywhere, are lovers of law and order; and while zealous for the right, are courteous in their treatment of political opponents. They offered no incivility to Mr. DOUGLAS, but stood quietly by, while he expatiated upon his "great principle," and listened in silence and without response to the "three cheers for DOUGLAS," which followed the discourse.

The News, in this connection, rather tartly says, that the Wide-Awake organization is a "nuisance" which the November election will "abate." We affectionately advise our neighbor not to lay that "flattering unction to his soul." We propose to make the Wide-Awakes a permanent feature in our political campaigns. They have done well in 1860, and will continue to do better as the years roll on. Long live the Wide-Awakes!

A NEW SENSATION.—There is a widely prevalent rumor in Washington, says the World's correspondent, to the effect that successful efforts are being made for the withdrawal of both DOUGLAS and BRECKENRIDGE from the field, and the concentration of the liberated Democratic vote on BELL, or some other independent candidate. DOUGLAS and BRECKENRIDGE have been consulted within the last twenty-four hours,

ANOTHER REPUBLICAN TERRITORY.—Nebraska has elected a Republican delegate to Congress—Mr. DAILY—by 162 majority. One after another, the Territories organized under Mr. DOUGLAS'S Kansas-Nebraska Bill, and in which he didn't care whether slavery was voted up or voted down, wheel into the long line of Republican States and vote slavery down, and vote DOUGLAS down along with it. Room for Nebraska!

NO MORE ELECTIONS TILL NOVEMBER.—Many people suppose that elections were held on Tuesday last in Iowa and Minnesota, and are anxiously looking for the returns. Several newspapers have stated that such elections were to take place; but such was not the case. In Presidential years, their State elections are postponed to November. There will be no more elections till the decisive one on the first Tuesday of November.

THE HUMBUGGERY OF PREMIUMS AT FAIRS.—The Madison Patriot remarks that great dissatisfaction exists with regard to some of the awards at the late State Fair, in consequence of placing persons on the committees who knew little of the matters on which they were to decide. The Patriot takes occasion, in the same connection, to take exception to the scale on which premiums are offered, and the want of sound discretion displayed in the relative importance attached to different objects in making up the lists.

BERGER, THE CHAMPION.—The New York Tribune says:—"FERLAN is vanquished, and lies with broken one at the feet of the Frenchman. BIRD and CAVANAUGH are also at his mercy. All confess that so true and sure a knight they never met before. They humbly, acknowledge that it beats all. They piously ejaculate that there's no use talking. FERLAN now plays at the game to please the audience—a sort of background to BERGER'S pictures."

A REPUBLICAN MEETING AT JEFFERSON.

Six Hundred Wide Awakes Present, and a Great Torchlight Procession in the Evening.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

WHITEWATER, Oct. 14.

Saturday, October 13th, was a day of great excitement in Jefferson village. The Republicans of Walworth and Jefferson counties turned out en masse to witness the display of Republicanism, and the groanings and moanings of the benighted Democracy of Jefferson County. The day was fair, and notwithstanding DOUGLAS' speaking the day previous, people poured in, and before one o'clock, the town was filled with overwhelming numbers. At 3 o'clock, the Wide Awake companies formed a procession and marched to the depot to escort Gov. RANDALL and Judge HOWE to the place of speaking, which was on the west side of the Court House. The vast assemblage of Republicans were soon crowded around the stand to listen to the speeches of Governor RANDALL and Judge HOWE, whilst now and then a neophite, or DOUGLAS Arab, was seen prowling about, so full of whiskey that he could hardly stand, and trying to pick a fight. After several of these miserable wags were nicely cleaned out, peace and quiet was restored.

Jefferson has heretofore been a strong Republican town, but we are assured that hereafter she will hail us with Republican triumphs. We hope she will let the light of her Republican glory shine out over the dark and benighted masses of Democratic localities, to teach them the path to travel. A Democrat—who had been a Democrat until Friday last, when Judge DOUGLAS made his appearance—became so suddenly disgusted at him, that he went and bought a Wide Awake regalia, and trained all day Saturday in the Republican ranks.

NEWSPAPER ADDRESSING MACHINE.—We saw this morning a very simple and effective machine for addressing newspapers and wrappers. Mr. C. L. SHOLES is one of the proprietors of the patent and has had the machine manufactured in this city. It is neat and portable, it is capable of directing newspapers as quick as they can be picked up. A galley of names and any other required figures is placed in a groove in the machine. A treaddle is moved with the foot and this sets upon an instrument which shoves up one of the lines of names and in coming against the next line draws the galley forward. The paper is placed under a stamper which descends on it simultaneously with the rising of a line against it through aspace of its exact size in a thin brass plate.

We regard it as an invaluable invention to newspaper proprietors; and one that will save much time and labor in performing a tedious work with unfailing accuracy.

This ingenious machine must come into general use, as its cost is moderate and its execution perfect. We are glad that a Wisconsin man has had something to do with the inventing and patenting of such a useful and creditable machine. Mr. SAMUEL SOULE, of Cincinnati, and Mr. GEO. GODFREY, Commercial Editor of the Milwaukee News, have interests in this successful invention.—Madison Patriot.

Wide-Awakes and Republicans Attention.

It is particularly requested that every man be on hand at the Head-Quarters at half-past six o'clock this evening, where they will be furnished with a torch, &c.—Let every sound Republican turn out, to aid in giving a reception to the author of the Homestead Bill worthy of the Badger State. By Order.

COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS.

Third Ward Republican Nominations.

The Republicans of the Third Ward, at their meeting on Tuesday night, nominated HENRY MIDDLETON, as their candidate for the Assembly, and CHARLES M. SIVYER for Councillor.

Mr. MIDDLETON is an old and efficient member of our Fire Department; an excellent citizen, an honest and worthy man. If elected, he will do good service to the city, and reflect credit upon his constituents.

CHARLES MILWAUKEE SIVYER, the Republican nominee for Councillor, is a native of this city, being the first white boy born within its limits. He is the son of Mr. WILLIAM SIVYER, one of the pioneers of Wisconsin, and has every qualification for the office to which his friends seek to elect him.

The Republicans of the Third Ward owe it to themselves, their cause and their candidates, that Messrs. MIDDLETON and SIVYER receive their united and enthusiastic support.

Galusha A. Grow.

The Hon GALUSHA A. GROW, a distinguished Representative from the Keystone State, and the able advocate of the HOMESTEAD BILL, is to speak in Milwaukee to-night. He deserves, at the hands of our people, a generous welcome, and a respectful hearing. We hope to see many thousands of our citizens on Market Square this evening, to listen to the faithful friend and zealous champion of the Rights and Interests of FREE LABOR. Every mechanic and working man in Milwaukee s hould unite in doing honor to GALUSHA A. GROW.

HARD TO SUIT—SCENE IN A NEWS DEPOT.—Customer.—What sort of papers do you sell here?

Boy (with eager expectation)—O, we keep all sorts. Call for whatever you like.

Customer (coolly)—I'll take one containing some late Fusion victories, if you please.

Boy (crestfallen)—There, you've got me!

A NEW BOOK.—We are indebted to TUNIS & Co., Wisconsin street, for a copy of "MISS GILBERT'S Career, an American story," by J. G. HOLLAND,. (Timothy Titcomb.) The book is very neatly printed by CHAS. SCRIBNER, N. Y., and is one of the best productions of its clever author. Buy it and read it. TUNIS & Co. are in daily receipt of all the latest newspapers, periodicals, novels, &c.

ANOTHER BODY FOUND.—A body was found Oct. 16th, and brought to this city by officer GRUBER, probably 17 or 18 years of age. He had on a hickory shirt, cotton jacket, black and white check, grey all wool jacket or short coat, black neck tie; teeth regular.

THIRD WARD REPUBLICANS.—All the Republicans of the Third Ward are requested to meet at Sivyer's Hall, this evening at half-past six o'clock, to join with the other Wards in the torchlight procession.

HOME INDUSTRY—NO. 1.

Humboldt Paper Mill—How they make Paper, and what they do with it.

Of course every one knows that paper is made from rags. Every one has a well defined idea that he knows all about it, and, in truth, that popular body knows very little after all. Talk to him and see how much he knows! He tells you that rags are bleached and ground into pulp, and by some easily explained process, which he can't describe, they have paper.

Exactly. That easily explained process is what very few of us know anything about. How the first filmament is formed; how the finely comminuted shreds of rags are gathered together in an uniform thickness of paper, perhaps very few know anything about, and the best way for us all to be enlightened is to get into Mr. NOONAN'S buggy with friend CASSIN, and go out to Humboldt and see the operation.

There will be one drawback to the pleasure we shall promise ourselves, and that will be the road. A more diabolical stretch of holes, quagmires, gullies, suloidal bridges, ridges, burrows, mud, water and dust, was never presented to any living traveller, in the space of three miles, than tortures the miserable wight after he gets beyond the Round House, on the Humboldt road. One could easily imagine himself riding over the graves of all his ancestry, or rather, over their tombstones. The vehicle wiggles and snaps; the wheels bend in all manner of angles; when the horse goes down, the carriage goes up—in a word, the road looks as though it had been laid out by a mole drainer, and feels like a sudden slide over a turotted iceberg.

However, horrible as is this Bay of Biscay to land voyagers, the traveller will get to Humboldt inside of a week if the buggy holds out and the horse does not sprain over three of his ancles, and, of course, provided the animal does not anchor himself in the middle of a slough. When in view of the cluster of houses, designated by the name of the great man of science, a beautiful bend in the Milwaukee river opens before one; the expanse of water caused by the dam, sparkles through the red Autumnal foliage, and the horrors of the infernal road are forgotten.

On the bank is the paper mill. Friend CASSIN introduces us to Mr. HARVEY the overseer or foreman; explains what we want, and we proceed at once to investigate.

Mr. HARVEY takes us first into the "sorting room" where some fifteen German girls are at work picking over the stock, (which is now a technicality for old rags,) and sorting it into seven different qualities. In this receptacle they throw all the woolen pieces, which travel all the way back to Connecticut, and are revamped into fresh woolen goods. [Revamped is a very good word here.] Woolen rags are worthless in a paper mill.

Perhaps you never knew that before. In this they put all the bits of hemp and paper and tow, which homely scraps make very clean and serviceable wrapping paper. In this are the cotton rags cast, which are to become in the short space of eight hours, spotless white paper.

It is astonishing to note with what rapidity these girls pick out the different qualities of stock. They plunge their hands into the heap of many colored rags, sift them through their fingers, and each scrap falls into its allotted receptacle.

From this room the rags go to the "rag-cutter," a machine which divides them into three strips of about one inch or less in width.

They are then put into a revolving cylinder called a "duster," which beats them thoroughly, the dust falling in the bottom of the box or case, and in an hour or so they are taken out and conveyed to an immense vat or tub, where they are placed in layers, alternating with layers of lime, until the vat is filled. In the bottom of the vat is a funnel through which steam is forced up through the mass. The vat is allowed to remain for several hours, when the rags are removed in a partially bleached state. They are thrown in a mass and allowed to remain as long as possible. It being thought that a partial fermentation of the heap takes place, which renders the stock in better condition for the other processes through which it has to go.

Now we arrive at what are called "engines" or "stuff engines" into which the rags are transferred from the vat and converted into pulp. There are four of these engines in operation. As they perform the principal part of the labor, it may be well to look at them pretty closely.

The "engine" is an oblong or oval tub, say ten feet long and four feet wide, and about two feet deep. A partition divides the tub into two parts which connect with each other at the ends. In one of these sides a large cylinder is set, after the manner of an undershot wheel—on its periphery are a number of sharp blades, which, when the cylinder revolves, almost touch a corresponding set of blades set in a stationary block in the bottom of the tub. At this time the tub is filled with a dark colored mass of the rags we saw taken from the lime vat. As one side of the tub is made to incline, a motion is given to the mass by a heavy stream of water, which runs into the engine, and the mixture comes in contact with the revolving cylinder which cuts, or rather grinds it, and throws it to the opposite extremity, where it again feels the influence of the inclination, and moves around to undergo the same operation again. The operation of grinding the rags requires nice management. When first put into the machine, they are worked gently. The blades on the cylinder are elevated, so as to allow the mass to go through with a mere scrubbing.

The stream of water which is passing through, carries away all the impurities, and when they are sufficiently cleaned the blades are let down and the grinding commences. The vibratory noise of this machine is very great; for when it revolves 120 times per minute, and has forty teeth, each of which passes twelve or fourteen teeth in the block, at every revolution, it will make nearly 60,000 cuts in a minute, each of them sufficiently loud to produce a grating noise.

In a few hours this rotating mass of rags and water is converted into the purest white pulp, and is then emptied into another receptacle, ready for its conversion into sheets of paper.

Here is a large tub full of a milky fluid. You will observe that it is nothing but water slightly colored, as if by some white substance. Well, if you take a tumbler full of this liquid and let it stand over night, you will find in the morning a precipitation at the bottom of the glass, forming a thin sheet of paper.

Here you have the secret of how they do it. A certain quantity of pulp is mixed in a tank, with a greater quantity of water, by means of, a revolving paddle, and emptied by means of a graduated conduit into another tank. In the centre of this latter, there is a large circular or cylindrical mould, made of extremely fine brass wire meshes. This revolves rather slowly, and as the water seeks an outlet through the meshes, the filmament of paper is detained on the outer surface in an uniform deposit. As the mould revolves, it comes slowly in contact with a woolen cloth of its own width, which takes the filmament of paper from the cylinder, passes it over a number of rollers until it reaches the calendar machine, a number of heavy iron rollers, which are heated internally by steam; between these closely fitting surfaces, the sheet passes, and is pressed free of wrinkles and asperities. It then undergoes a drying process, performed in this establishment by steam, and passes on, a continuous sheet, to be cut into the required lengths and folded.

The long strip of white paper which is now moving before us through and over the successive calendars and rollers, will be tied up in bundles and reams to-morrow, and be on the way to Chicago, to become the Times and Herald. No small part of the paper here manufactured is carried to the SENTINEL office, and, receiving the impress of intelligence, is sent flying all over the State again, so that it is highly probable that many who dispose of their old rags to some travelling peddlar, eventually buy them back again in the shape of a newspaper. Mr. NOONAN recently sent a supply of paper to the Rocky Mountain News; and we believe most of the prominent papers in this and the adjoining States are supplied from the same extensive factory.

Paper is said to have been invented in China 170 years before Christ. It was first made of cotton about A. D. 1000, and of rags in 1319. White coarse paper was made by Sir JOHN SPIELMAN, a German, at Dartford, in 1590, and here the first paper-mills were erected.

The largest paper mill in the United States is that of Messrs. PRESSE and BADGER, at Windsor Locks, Conn., which produces daily seven and a half tons of paper, worth some $1,800, or at the rate of $500,000 a year, being in fact a larger amount from this one factory than was manufactured by the entire British mills in the same time before 1700.

COLLINGBOURNE'S

FOURTH WARD REPUBLICAN MEETING.—A very enthusiastic meeting of the Republicans of the Fourth Ward was held at Plankinton's Hall, Tuesday evening, to ratify the nomination of Mr. CAVERNO for the Assembly. The Hall was well filled, and very inspiriting speeches were made by Messrs. Judge ADAMS, J. H. PARISH and G. A. STARKWEATHER. The meeting agreed to unite with the other Republicans of the city in the torchlight demonstration this evening, in honor of Hon. GALUSHA A. GROW. The following resolutions were adopted by acclamation:

Resolved, That we, the members of the Fourth Ward Republican Club, approve of the nomination made by the Republican voters of the Ward at a regular meeting called and held by them on the evening of the 14th inst., at which meeting choice was made of Mr. Charles Caverno as a suitable person to represent this Assembly District.

Resolved, That we do most cheerfully and unanimously endorse the action of said meeting, and that we, the members of the Fourth Ward Republican Club, pledge ourselves to give the nominee our united support at the coming election, and to elect him if possible to the office which he has been nominated.

NEW CARS FOR THE HORSE RAILWAY.—Two very handsome single horse cars, manufactured by MURPHY and ALLISON, Philadelphia, were put on the East Water Street division of the River and Lake City Railway yesterday. They are built in the same style as the others, but are considerably lighter, being designed for single horses, and are elegantly finished. They are to run from Chestnut street bridge to Walker's Point bridge, while the three large ones will be kept on the Eastern Division, running from Walker's Point bridge almost to the head of Prospect street. The River and Lake Shore City Railway is now completed and fully equipped, and seems to be doing a very fair business. It is a great convenience to a large class of our citizens, and a benefit to the city at large and should be liberally patronized.

A CARD.—The family and friends of R. E. CUMMEFORD, one of the victims of the Lady Elgin disaster, and a member of the Milwaukee Light Guards, desire to return their sincere and heartfelt thanks to the officers and members of that corps for their untiring exertions in recovering his body, and for their kind and gentlemanly attention at the funeral, and in accompanying his remains to their final resting place.

In behalf of the family,

JOHN S. MITCHELL.

A GOOD PAPER FOR EVERY FAMILY.—All our readers may not be acquainted with one of the most valuable agricultural and family journals in the country, now in its nineteenth volume. We refer to the American Agriculturist, which is a large and beautiful journal, devoted to the practical labors of the Field, Garden, and the Household. It is prepared by practical men (and women) who know what they write about; and it gives a great amount of valuable information, useful not only to farmers, gardeners, stock-raisers, fruit-growers, and those who have little village plats, but also to every family. We advise our readers to send $1 to the publisher, ORANGE JUDD, 41 Park Row, New York, and try the Agriculturist a year. A specimen copy can doubtless be had by sending to the publisher. Those subscribing now for the twentieth volume, (1861), will get the remaining numbers of this year without charge.

READ, YE AFFLICTED!—Wear your old Trusses, with their filthiness and chafing, for life, or the "Hard Rubber Riggs' Truss," and be cured. Cases of ten years standing have been cured in Chicago, since May last, and were shown at the late Mechanics' Fair, where this Truss received the Silver Medal, over all other popular Trusses in use. Cases can be shown in this City that have had "boughten experience," with the "White's Truss," "Marchis" and many other kinds, all failing to give satisfaction. By the "Riggs' Truss" all is accomplished that can be asked of a Truss to do, curing in nearly all common cases. The best surgeons in the City say it is the only Truss fit to be used. The Agent will be at the Walker House this week only. See advertisement.

THERE OUGHT TO BE some provision made which will enable such persons as cannot, (through pecuniary inability,) purchase Guernsey's Balm, to procure it and receive the benefit consequent upon its application. This subject is one of the greatest importance and some action by a competent person seems to be, at this time, particularly desirable. Every person ought to be able to enjoy this blessing.

Lincoln, or Breckinridge.

On the sixth day of November the People of the United States will be called upon to choose a President for the ensuing four years. Heretofore, that choice has usually been limited to one of two leading candidates; and although there are now four nominees in the field, only two of the number have any show of success. These two are ABRAHAM LINCOLN, of Illinois, the candidate of the Republican party; and JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE, of Kentucky, the candidate of one section of the Democratic party.

Mr. BELL, of Tennessee, who is supported by the self-styled "Americans" and "Union" men, is a gentleman of conceded ability, unimpeachable character, and excellent political antecedents. But his election is out of the question, and therefore all votes cast for him are so many votes thrown away.

So with Mr. DOUGLAS, of Illinois—the favorite of the great mass of the Democracy North. He has not the slightest chance of being elected. It is doubtful, indeed, whether he can carry a single State. A man might just as well cast a blank vote, as to vote for DOUGLAS.

The choice, as we said before, is restricted to LINCOLN and BRECKINRIDGE. One of these two and none other, can be elected by the People. If there is no choice by the People, the election goes to Congress; and must necessarily lead to all manner of "bargain and corruption." Every true patriot will deprecate such a result. Let the people, not Congress, make the next President. Let every Elector choose between ABRAHAM LINCOLN and JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE. The one represents the progressive, independent, self-reliant, free spirit of the Great West.—The other is the candidate and representative of the Pro-Slavery party of the South. Between those two the Freemen of Wisconsin are called upon to choose. Every vote cast for DOUGLAS, or BELL, is, in fact, half a vote for BRECKINRIDGE. On such an issue WISCONSIN ought to give fifty thousand majority for LINCOLN and LIBERTY.

How to "Break the News."

The task of "breaking" disagreeable news to friends is always an unpleasant and generally a difficult one. But the Appleton Crescent, a Douglas organ, understands the business and does it up handsomely. Hear what it says about the October elections:

PENNSYLVANIA ELECTION.—The result is as we predicted in our last, although the Democratic gains in Philadelphia is tremendous, and the Opposition majority in the State is less than half as great as at any election for years. At the State election in '59, the Opposition was split, and ran two State tickets, the united vote exceeding the Democratic vote over twenty thousand; in 1858, the Opposition majority on Congressmen was over thirty-one thousand; in 1859, the Opposition majority on State Officers was cut down to a little over eighteen thousand; and now, in 1860, after spending half a million of dollars, they only beat us twelve thousand. We can upset that in November.

OHIO ELECTION.—TREMENDOUS DEMOCRATIC GAIN.—The Ohio State Election resulted of course in the election of a Nullification Supreme Judge, and the other State officers; but the Democrats reduced the opposition majority over fifty thousand in comparison with the Presidential vote of 1856, and gain two Congressmen. Well done, Ohio!

INDIANA ELECTION.—Indiana elects the Opposition ticket, owing to the split among the Democrats, and the support by the Bell-men to the Shanghai ticket.—The result is no indication of the result in November, for the Bell men of Indiana will not vote for Lincoln in any event.

Now when you consider that PENNSYLVANIA has given thirty thousand majority for the Republican ticket, over all "fusion;" that OHIO has given twenty-two thousand ditto, when, in 1856, BUCHANAN and FILLMORE together had 12,000 more votes than FREMONT; and that INDIANA, for the first time, elects a clean Republican ticket, over the combined DOUGLAS, BRECKINRIDGE [illegible] forces, by fifteen thousand—[illegible] faint idea can be [illegible] and majority, a SAN [illegible]'s lying. Decidedly, he is entitled to the first premium in that department at the next State Fair.

Carl Schurz at Buffalo.

Our distinguished fellow-citizen, CARL SCHURZ, was among the speakers at the great Republican mass meeting in Buffalo, on Saturday last. The Commercial Advertiser thus speaks of him:

Immediately on the dismissal of the procession, St. James Hall was packed in every seat and standing place to hear Carl Schurz. His audience was mostly German, though the announcement that he was to speak in the English language was enough to induce many Americans to undergo a speech of which they understood not a word.

Of the German speech of Mr. Schurz we can offer no report. It was received with unbounded enthusiasm, however, and is spoken of in the highest terms. We shall have occasion to-morrow to allude in warm commendation of his truthful and honorable mention of the virtues of the American organization and the causes which gave it birth.

After his speech in German was concluded, the audience, still unsatisfied, clamorously demanded a speech in English. Mr. SCHURZ, in response to the call, made some very happy remarks which called forth enthusiastic cheers from the crowded audience.

THE GROUND SWELL.—A non-political friend in one of the rural districts of Pennsylvania writes us, in the course of a business letter, as follows:

"Pennsylvania has spoken decisively in her late election. The politicians of the Republican party are astonished at the result. The victory is so great because the people achieved it, independently of the politicians. You cannot imagine how deep a feeling exists among the people. Thousands who heretofore did nothing more than merely vote, went among their friends and neighbors, and talked earnestly with them over the great issues of the day. There is a determination in the minds of these men to make themselves felt, that was never known before. Depend upon it, Pennsylvania will give a majority of 50,000 for Lincoln over all the opposition combined."—N. Y. Tribune.

The North-West can Feed the World.

The New York World of Saturday last contains an elaborate article on the wheat crop of 1860. Although the statements and estimates of the yield in the North-Western States may stagger eastern farmers, we believe that they are substantially correct.—These estimates are as follows:

Illinois, bushels	25,000,000
Wisconsin, "	16,000,000
Indiana, "	12,000,000
Michigan, "	10,000,000
Iowa, "	6,000,000
Minnesota, "
Total	94,000,000

The article pays a glowing tribute to the productiveness of Wisconsin farms and the quality of Wisconsin wheat. "Milwaukee Club," says the editor, "has a world-wide reputation." And so it should have; the quality of the grain, this year, being better than ever.

We copy the closing paragraph:

The extent of the wheat trade of Chicago and Milwaukee at this time is marvellous. The historical importance of Dantzic, Hamburg and Odessa dwindle into colonial insignificance, compared with these new wheat emporiums of the Northwest. The grain commerce of Lake Michigan is greater than that of the Atlantic Ocean. Chicago and Milwaukee receive and ship more wheat than any four cities on the globe. The receipts of wheat at these two cities, since harvest, have been nearly ten millions of bushels! The receipts for any day the past week, at these markets, would give one bushel to every inhabitant of Vermont; and the receipts for the week would feed all Massachusetts for six months.

It is no figure of speech to say, that the Northwest can "feed the world."

A Compliment to the Seventh Regiment.

The Seventh Regiment, N. York State Militia, is not only the pride of our Commercial Emporium, but enjoys a National reputation. During the parade in New York on Thursday last, in honor of the Prince of Wales, the following incident occurred:

"At the review on the Battery on Thursday, General Bruce and Inspector-General Sherman rode side by side. General Bruce spoke repeatedly of the fine appearance of the men, and on arriving in front of the Seventh Regiment, observed them closely for some moments. Turning to Colonel Sherman, he said: "Surely, sir, you do not mean to tell me that these men are amateur soldiers?" "Yes, General," said the Col. Sherman, "they are, and to-morrow all of them will be at their offices or other places of business, engaged in their customary employments." "You astonish me," said the General. "Never in my life have I seen a finer line, or more soldierly-looking men; but few armies in the world could show so fine a regiment."

General BRUCE is an accomplished soldier and he has seen most of "the armies in the world." His judgment, therefore, carries weight, and confirms the general opinion of the American people, that the Seventh Regiment of the New York State Militia, can challenge comparison with any in the world.

THE BELL VOTE.—The vote of Philadelphia for Governor last week was cast, for CURTIN, 38,883; for FOSTER, 42,119. For members of Congress, the vote stood, LINCOLN, 39,459; Democrat, 36,301; BELL, 6,211. Showing that of the BELL men 374 voted for CURTIN, while 5,818 voted for FOSTER. It was doubtless so throughout the State. Now that the Democratic State Committee has definitely refused to put any BELL men on their Electoral Ticket, the BELL vote must be cast for its own Electoral Ticket, which, of itself, would carry up LINCOLN'S majority to 50,000.

WHAT YANCEY SAYS.—Even Yancey admits that Southern men will consent to take office under Lincoln. In a speech Mr. Yancey delivered in New York, he says:

"Now, then, what would be the result of putting Lincoln into power? Why, gentlemen, it would build up an additional party in every Southern State who would take office under Lincoln; they would of course be the nearest to sympathize with him in his rule. I tell you it would not take long for them to sympathize entirely with him—at least so entirely as to keep the office. He will thus build up an abolition party at the South, corrupting and disregarding the tone of our people, putting into all his offices, these, his victims, and the officers would be in the hands of men who would sympathize with Lincoln."

"Coming Events Cast their Shadows Before."

There is no longer a doubt that Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana have gone Republican by such large majorities as preclude the idea of any danger that they will do otherwise in November. The Republicans in each of the three States have elected their State Officers, a majority of the Legislature, and a large majority of the Congressmen.

These results are accepted as a virtual decision of the Presidential Election. For twenty years this sign has never failed. The October Elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana have always indicated with unerring certainty the result of the National contest in November. No Presidential candidate has been successful whose Party lost these three States in October, and none has been defeated who carried them.

Especially is the indication reliable this year, when these have been the only States whose position was not pretty accurately known in advance. Pennsylvania and Indiana were the doubtful localities—the States North of them being on all hands conceded to Republicanism, and those South of them to Democracy.

The Atlas and other Democratic journals, substantially acknowledge their coming defeat, for they say that their only hope now rests on New York—New York, which will double the majority of Pennsylvania!

All that remains is to see that Republicans are not rendered careless by over-confidence. It will not do to assume that inasmuch as Lincoln is proved to have a popular majority, he will receive such a majority at the Polls without effort. It will not do to neglect a single duty, or let a single vote, stay away from the Polls who can be brought there. Victory hangs within our grasp, but we must stretch forth our hands to take it. Let the brief remainder of the Campaign be devoted to earnest, vigilant effort to bring every Vote to the Pol[l] the 6th of November, and Abra[ham] Lincoln is as sure to be the [illegible]xt President of the United States [illegible] the sun is sure to rise on the 4th of March.—Albany Evening Journal, Oct. 11th.

GEORGE H. STEWART, Esq., of Philadelphia, who recently returned from England, states that one night, a short time ago, ten or twelve followers of Christ went to one of the policemen of London, and said: "Take us down to the very lowest depths of sin in this great city—as near to the gates of the pit as it is possible to go." He took us to a place where, he assured us, a short time before it would not have been safe to venture. Stopping suddenly, the guide remarked, "Look around you now; here is the place where Satan holds his seat." We turned the corner, and under the lamp-post we found a young man; scarce twenty years of age, almost at midnight, with his bible opened, and with the light of the lamp shed upon its pages, he was preaching Christ to a large congregation of the most degraded human beings we ever witnessed. What a sight!

A WRITER in the Gospel Herald, who has been traveling over considerable portions of Connecticut, says: "Spiritualism has made terrible ravages here, and everywhere in this community I see its baneful results. The common schools have been closed; domestic discords prevail; marriage contracts are made, to be dissolved in a few weeks or months; families that were a few years ago esteemed respectable, are now clad in rags, and wanting the most necessaries of life, and their earnings are given to support the idle rabble who constantly hang on them, to hear or to tell some new and strange thing."

A SHORT TIME AGO a man named Crandan made his escape from the Alleghany County Jail. For the information of the curious he has lately written back the following account of the manner of his escape: "I suppose it is a mystery to some how I got away, consequently I will give you a brief history of my departure. The modus operandi was this: I got out of my cell with ingenuity, ran up stairs with agility, crawled out of the back window in secrecy, slid down the lightning rod with rapidity, walked out of the angelic town with dignity, and am now basking in the sunshine of pleasure and liberty!"

GOV. RANDALL'S APPOINTMENTS.—We are authorized to state that Gov. RANDALL will address the people on the political issues of the day at the following times and places:—Richland Centre, Friday, Oct. 12; Jefferson, Saturday, Oct. 13; Fox Lake, Monday, Oct. 15; Green Bay, Friday, Oct. 19; Appleton, Wednesday, Oct. 24; Menasha, Thursday, Oct. 25; Neenah, Thursday, Oct. 25.

Has Been.

These two words occupy but small space, but they tell an important tale. The convention which nominated Douglas and Slave Code Johnson, adopted as part of the platform upon which this precious pair are placed the following resolution, which has since been unqualifiedly endorsed by Douglas in his letter of acceptance:

Resolved, That it is in accordance with the Cincinnati platform that during the existence of a territorial government, the measure of restriction, whatever it may be, imposed by the federal constitution on the power of the territorial legislature, over the subject of domestic relations, AS THE SAME HAS BEEN, or shall hereafter be finally determined by the Supreme Court of the United States, should be respected by all good citizens, and enforced with promptness and ability by every branch of the general government.

Now what do those words "HAS BEEN," mean? They refer directly and only to the Dred Scott decision. They pledge the party to abide by that decision and to an enforcement of its provisions by Congress. What is that decision? We copy from Howard's Reports, 19th vol., page 395:

1st. "The territory thus acquired is acquired by the people of the United States for their common and equal benefit, through their agent and trustee, the federal government. Congress can exercise no power over the rights of persons and property of a citizen in the territory which is prohibited by the constitution. The government and the citizen, whenever the territory is open to settlement, both enter it with the respective rights defined and limited by the constitution.

2d, "Congress has no right to prohibit the citizens of any particular state or states from taking up their home there, while it permits citizens of other states to do so.—Nor has it a right to give privileges to one class of citizens which it refuses to another. The territory is acquired for their equal benefit, and if open to any it must be open to all upon equal and the same terms.

3d. "EVERY CITIZEN HAS A RIGHT TO TAKE WITH HIM INTO THE TERRITORY ANY ARTICLE OF PROPERTY WHICH THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES RECOGNIZES AS PROPERTY.

4th. "The Constitution of the United States RECOGNIZES SLAVES AS PROPERTY, AND PLEDGES THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT TO PROTECT IT. And Congress cannot exercise any more authority over property of that description than it may constitutionally exercise over property of any other kind.

5th. "The act of Congress, therefore, prohibiting a citizen of the United States taking with him his slaves when he removes to the territory in question, to reside, is AN EXERCISE OF AUTHORITY OVER PRIVATE PROPERTY, WHICH IS NOT WARRANTED BY THE CONSTITUTION, and the removal of the plaintiff by his owner to that territory gave him no title to freedom.

6th. "While it remains a territory, congress may legislate over it within the scope of its constitutional powers in relation to citizens of the United States, and may establish a territorial government, and the form of this local government must be regulated by the discretion of Congress; but with powers NOT EXCEEDING those which Congress itself, by the Constitution, is authorized to exercise over citizens of the U. States in respect to their rights of property."—Janesville Gaz.

Bryan's Tasteless Vermifuge.

SAVED! SAVED!

Physicians in vain came again and again,
The dear little angel grew worse,
"'Tis a fatal disease, and we can't give her ease,"
Said the doctors to mother and nurse.
But the nurse in plain terms said, "'tis nothing but worms,"
And a cure pointed out right away;
BRYAN'S VERMIFUGE mild, then they gave to the child,
And behold! she was well the next day.

THE MIGHTY HEALER.

LET NOT DISEASE, WITH ITS fangs, prey upon you, until the cold hand of death hurls you to an untimely grave. Shake off the feeling of despair and hopelessness, so liable to come upon the invalid. The plant born of the Sun we place within the reach of all. We care not what may be the specific order of the disease. The cause, the fountain of the disease itself, is impure blood, and through the different channels of the lungs, stomach and the vital organs, JUDSON'S MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS will pass, mingling with the blood, search out and grasp and then expel, all hurtful poison that there is in it. Thus cleanse the blood by a few doses of these PILLS, and disease in any form, will dissipate and vanish. As the Sun with its glorious beams first causes the morning dew to rise as mist, then growing stronger casts his burning rays upon it—and behold 'tis gone—so cleanse the blood, and disease, like morning dew, retreats and vanishes. There is no blood purifier equal to JUDSON'S MOUNTAIN HERB PILLS.

Soliloquy of the Spirit over its Clay.

This very peculiar and original poem has an interest and music all its own:

'Tis wondrous strange—it looks as dead,
And yet I feel no fear;
My long lost senses all are fled,
And I am standing here
With all my faculties complete—
A perfect man from the crown of my head,
To the very soles of my feet.

Dead! dead! what an earthly word!
Ah! now I see it all:
I was wont to laugh at the truths I heard
Of the life behind the pall;
Of the death-in-life and the life-in-death—
And held that the cessing of the breath
Was the final end of all.

But I have fled from what is dead,
And will warm the clay no more,
That lies so senseless on the bed,
Dead to those who deplore
The absence of the living one
That saved the body from decay,
And held the worm in awe.

But what will my darling say to this
When she hears I have passed away,
And knows the lips she was wont to kiss
Are pallid curves of clay?
Will she die for the want of the olden bliss,
Or live for the heart's decay?

My only wish is to see her now—
Great Heaven! and can it be!
There she lies with her curl-lit brow,
Dreaming a dream of me!
Dreaming a dream of the man that stands
Here by her side to-night;
And kisses the white of her heavenly hands,
And her eyelids' wailing light.

Ah! now I know that I will go
Where my true affections are,
And what I love below or above
Will be my guiding star;
And the light I see coming to me
Undimmed by the clay which lies,
Stiff and stark and growing dark,
In the glow of the tropic skies.

O! the narrow space I was compassed in,
Chained to a lump of earth,
And darkened by clouds of grief and sin
From the moment of my birth:
But I am free as thought can be,
And am where my wishes are—
And pure and bright with the ancient light
That flows from the Lord afar,
Making me shine with the rays divine
Eternity cannot mar.

A LEAF FOR LITTLE LADIES.

SPRINGTIME.

It was a lovely September afternoon; the soft breeze scarce ruffled the sails of the stately ships that floated on the calm sea.—All was still save when an occasional shout broke from a merry group of children engaged in building mimic towns upon the sands. After a time, two of the little company stole away from the scene of their labors, and were soon hid from the others by the rugged rocks with which the Jersey coast was strewn for miles around.

The name of the little girl was Ellie Grierson—a bright-eyed, active child of twelve. Her companion, Arthur Seyton, was a tall, slight boy, two or three years older than herself.

The shadows lengthened, as hour after hour of the bright afternoon flew by, and still the two scrambled on unwearedly over stones and seed-weed. They had discovered a very curious rock, which was worn by the destructive force of the tide in all manner of odd shapes.

"Here is a perfectly shaped arm chair, Arthur; I can seat myself in it so comfortably. Is it not very curious?"

"Very; and here is nearly as good a sofa."

"No," said Ellie, shaking her head, "my chair is the best by far."

"There are many queer rocks hereabouts," said Arthur; how easily one could imagine a churchyard down yonder; those stones are the very shape of tombstones."

"I don't see the resemblance," returned Ellie. "I could fancy, instead, a number of people bending down to dig up sand-eels."

Shut in as they were among the rocks, the children little imagined the rapid progress the tide was making, so gently and noiselessly did the little waves wander in among the stones.

"Arthur! Arthur!" shouted Ellie, clapping her hands, "come here quickly; I have found a cave in the rock!"

Arthur stood by her side in a moment.

"So you have! I did not know there was a cave here! but other people did, however, for there are rude sorts of steps cut out in the stone up to the entrance."

"Come and let us investigate it, Arthur. I never have been in a cave before."

"Certainly; only take care you do not fall on the slippery steps."

Ellie uttered an exclamation of delight, as, after passing through a long narrow passage they entered a large cavern. At first she could see nothing; but her eyes soon grew accustomed to the dim light, and she looked round in astonishment at the vaulted room in which she found herself.

"O, Arthur! have you ever seen such a curious place?"

"Oh! yes, the caves at Piemont are much larger. But you speak in a low voice, Ellie, as if you were afraid of being overheard by the fairies with which tradition peoples caves."

"Is there any story about this one?"

"Very likely there is; but I don't happen to know it. I don't believe there is a cave that has not some legend belonging to it.—There is one in Guernsey, which is said to have been built in the night by a band of fairies."

"I am sure the fairies would have the good taste to prefer grassy mounds and flowery meadows to a gloomy cave like this."

"I quite agree with you, Ellie—it would be a much fitter place of abode for the black dwarfs and trolls."

Ellie examined the cavern attentively for a long time, while Arthur told her all the anecdotes he remembered relating to caves. At last she said: "But, Arthur, look! there is another opening; perhaps we may find another room."

"You had better take care, Ellie. It is said of a cave in the Western Islands that, whoever penetrates to the end returns without his skin."

Ellie laughed. "It would be better to come back wanting one's skin than not to come back at all. But, Arthur, she continued, "look how the walls glitter! Do knock me a piece off from them!"

"Certainly, if I had a stone to do it with; but it is so dark here. Oh! here is one that will do. Now, Ellie we must hurry back!"

"Oh! wait; here is such a pretty bit; do give it to me!"

True is the saying, "most haste worst speed." Arthur's efforts to be speedy only made him longer."

"What is the matter, Arthur? Why have you taken such a sudden restless fit?" said Ellie, looking at him with surprise.

"We have been away a very long time, and the others will be wondering where we are: besides ——"

"Besides what?"

"I have quite forgotten to look at the tide; and it may be quite near us for all we know."

"Nonsense; we would hear it much plainer if it were. What odd little coves those are in the wall; where do they lead to?"

"Tradition says, to the centre of the earth; but that's a humbug. Do come away now."

But Ellie was headstrong, and insisted on exploring every one of the little fissures before she would quit the spot; even then she lingered, in spite of Arthur's efforts to hurry her.

"How funny you look!" she said, laughing. "What are you in such a state about? It would be great fun if the tide had come in!"

"Ellie, you don't know what you are saying," said Arthur, as, grasping her hand tightly, he drew her forward.

"What a tiresome boy you are!" said Ellie, half laughing, half provoked. "We have only been a short time in the cave."

"The time has passed much quicker than you imagine. Hark! how near the sea sounds."

There was something in his voice that startled Ellie, and she no longer held back.

"O, Arthur! what is the matter?" she said, as an exclamation of dismay burst from his lips.

"Look!"

Ellie's face grew paler and paler as she looked forth on the expanse of waters that lay around them, only broken by the rocks that here and there raised their rugged heads above the tide.

"O Arthur! how dreadful! How can we get away?"

But Arthur did not answer. He was looking eagerly from side to side. He saw but too clearly the danger of their situation—all mode of exit cut off by the deep water which washed the base of the rock on which they stood. His look was answer enough for Ellie; and covering her face with her hands she burst into tears.

"O Arthur! I have been very wrong. If I had not kept you so long in the cave, we would have been safe. I was very, very wicked."

"Hush, dear! don't reproach yourself; it is of no use, and I can't bear to hear you; and don't cry so dreadfully! Perhaps we may be saved yet."

Ellie lifted her head, and looked around on the placid sea, dotted by the distant sails of the many ships "bound on their voyage home."

"The water looks so clear and beautiful, Arthur—it can't be so cruel as to drown us! Oh! no, no—we can't be drowned!"

Arthur did not hear her; he was gazing, with compressed lips, at something on the rock by his side. It was a small piece of sea-weed; he put out his hand and touched it; it was damp, and growing on the rock. Tearing it off with an impatient jerk, he flung it into the sea; he watched it unconsciously as it was washed to and fro by the ripple; then he turned and looked at Ellie. She was leaning her little pale face on her hand, her eyes fixed wishfully on the distant cliffs of France. He hastily swallowed down something that would rise in his throat as he looked at her; and, bending over the rock, he watched the water with an aching eagerness. Yes; it was rising; that was too evident. He started up. "O, Ellie! Ellie! if there was something that I could do—some way of escape I could try for you, however dangerous! But it is maddening to stay doing nothing, and see these waters rising higher and higher." And he stamped his foot excitedly.

The receipts of wheat to-day were only 79,487 bus; The shipments were 111,973 bus. The more buoyant tone of reports from New York, together with the prospect of a speedy reduction in freights, changed the course of the wheat market to-day, and before the close the decline of yesterday afternoon was fully regained, No. 1 spring readily bringing 90c in store.—Transactions, however, were limited, sellers generally holding their receipts at 1@2c above the offering prices. Flour was very dull, the difficulty at present attending shipments depressing the market. The Detroit & Milwaukee Railway docks have become so blockaded since the late advance in Lake rates, that the Co.'s agent was compelled to decline large amounts offered, and we understand that the rates by this route after to-day, will be $1,40 to Boston, and $1,30 to New York, the same as the Lake Trans. Co.'s are charging.

There was a strong downward tendency in grain freights to-day, and a decline of fully 1c established. Early in the day the schooner Sacramento was chartered to load at Sheboygan for Buffalo at 22c; and later the schooners W. B. Ogden and Lookout, to load here for the same port, at 12c. A propeller was offered on Chicago at 23½c to Oswego, and the bark Cleveland was chartered to load for that port on private terms. A vessel to arrive was offered at 18c to Buffalo, but not taken.

CHICAGO MARKET, OCTOBER 16.

The receipts at Chicago yesterday included: 4,248 bbls flour; 154,625 bus wheat; 20,105 bus corn; 19,103 bus oats; 3,191 rye; 6,521 bus barley. The Press & Tribune says:

The receipts of wheat to-day were 154,625 bushels, and the shipments, 150,350 bushels. Owing to a scarcity of tonnage, and consequent firmness in freights, the demand by shippers was unusually light, and the market ruled ½c lower—closing quiet. About 100,000 changed hands at $1 10 for choice white winter on track; 96c for No. 2 white in store; 95c for No. 2 red; 90c for Northwestern club; 87@83½c for No. spring; 84@84½c for No. 2 spring; and 76c for rejected. The flour market was steady for good and choice brands of spring extra, but dull for ordinary grades. About 3,000 bbls were sold at $4 45@4 90 for medium to choice spring extras, and $3 25@3 75 for spring superfine. Corn was in better request, and the market was ½@1c higher, with limited transactions at 35c for prime to choice Northern club; 37@38½c for No. spring; 34@34½c for No. 2 spring; and 30c for rejected. The flour market was steady for good and choice brands of spring extra, but dull for ordinary grades. Oats were easier—21,000 bus having changed hands at 18c in store. Rye advanced 1@2c, with sales at 50½@52c for No. 1 in store. There was a better demand for good barley, but common was dull—sales ranging from 40@60c by sample, and 45½c for No. 2 in store. Timothy Seed was quiet and steady at $2 12½@2 15. Highwines 19@19½.

Freight room is entirely nominal. Only one vessel was engaged to load at Milwaukee with wheat for Buffalo, at 20c. There was so few vessels here that shippers did not test the market.

ST. LOUIS MARKET, OCT. 13TH.

Receipts at St. Louis on Saturday included 5,392 sacks wheat, 200 bbls 141 sacks flour by River; and 1,151 sacks wheat, 846 bbls 240 sacks flour by Railroad. The Democrat has the following report of the market:

FLOUR—There were sales of 3,000 to 4,000 bbls city mills at $5,15 for middle of November delivery; sales of 600 bags city superfine at $3,25; 50 bbls Mt. Vernon at $5,50; 40 bbls country low grade at $4,25, and 350 bags country superfine, in three lots, at $2,40@2,50.

PROVISIONS—The stock of bacon will scarcely keep up a supply until the new product comes on. The supply of shoulders is the most ample of any kind. There are scarcely any clear sides or sugar cured hams. We quote shoulders at 6½c; plain hams 11½@11¾c; plain canvassed do 11¾@12c; sugar-cured canvassed 14c; rib sides 12½c; clear do 13¾c. There is little or no strictly prime lard here, and almost any price could be had for it. We quote it nominally 15½@16½c. Small sales of mess pork at $18,50.

WHISKEY—Buyers talked this morning as if sure of getting raw whiskey at 18c, and generally refused to pay over that. Two small lots, however, 25 and 31 bbls, were sold at 19¼c, and they were the only sales reported.

The British Corn Trade.

From the Mark Lane Express, Sept. 26.

The broken weather the past week has greatly impeded harvest operations. The wheat in the southern and middle counties was well nigh gathered before the rain commenced; but in the north, operations have been seriously checked, the principal part being yet unharvested. Oats and barley have also suffered, but chiefly the latter, and the condition of the wheat already sufficiently bad, seems likely to be improved.

The potato crop, too, in Ireland, which hitherto was doubtful, or not so decidedly bad as in this country, has lately been suffering at a fearful rate, so that prices in Limerick have doubled, and Mallow has everywhere been improving in value. Under these unfavorable circumstances the price of old wheat has risen 7s@8s per qr., and the few parcels of good new have also brought rather more money. Upon the whole, a contemporary, under mercantile authority, would fain assure the public that a cold and very rainy season has been actually favorable to an ample yield of cereals, and that ingenere and deny the statements of practical men, whose interests would naturally lead them to report an abundance to lessen foreign imports.

Some of the nearer countries, as France and Belgium, not being abundantly supplied, show a slight reaction in favor of prices; but in the Baltic, at Odessa, and on the Danube, rates have given way under the more movable advices from England. The same influence is observable in Spain. At New York, the excitement produced by former reports had not yet subsided, both flour and wheat having risen further, with a large amount of business transacted, and good shipments made for Great Britain. The capacity, however, of the States to send the enormous quantities estimated by world writers, has never yet been proved, and should these millions qrs. be imported thro' the entire season, it would fully reach the limits of our expectations.

The arrivals off the coast since the 12th inst. were 76 cargoes. Of these 42 cargoes were wheat, 18 maize, and 4 barley.

The sales noted last week were 49,154 qrs. wheat at Mark Lane, against 116,283 qrs. in 1859 at Mincing Lane, the week's sales of Scotch and Irish wheat being 3,000 qrs. 3 ₰ qr. higher. The London averages were 53s 8d and 3,052 qrs.

ANOTHER NOR' WESTER.

The wind blew almost a gale all Tuesday night, increasing again in violence yesterday afternoon. The schooners El Tempo, Algerine, Wm. B. Hibbard, and C. C. Trowbridge downward bound with grain, put into our harbor until the storm shall abate sufficiently to allow them to proceed on their voyage. The El Tempo loaded at Sheboygan, but was obliged to run back here for shelter. The others were from Chicago. The propellers Ontonagon, Potomac, Mohawk and Jones, and the schooners Cape Horn, Curtis Mann, Bonnie Doon, Zadock Pratt, Kate Richmond, and the brig Bay City were all loaded, and awaiting the abatement of the storm to sail. The wind was N. N. E. with the usually heavy sea, occasioned by a gale from that quarter.

ARRIVAL OF THE SCHR. GEO. D. BOUSMAN FROM LIVERPOOL.

The schr. George D. Bousman, Capt. SMITH, arrived at this port direct from Liverpool yesterday with a cargo of bulk salt for Messrs. LAYTON & FLANIGAN, beef and pork packers. She was discharging at KELLOGG & STRONG'S dock yesterday afternoon, preparatory to taking on a load of wheat for Buffalo. This is the first direct shipment from Liverpool to Milwaukee.

THE QUICKEST TRIP ON RECORD.

The schr. Lookout, Capt. CHAS. P. MOREY, sailed from this port for Buffalo with a cargo of wheat, at 9 A. M. on the 5th inst., and arrived back yesterday at 4 P. M., having accomplished the round trip in the almost incredibly short space of twelve days and seven hours. Heretofore to perform the round trip between this port and Buffalo in 15 days, has been considered remarkably good time. Capt. MOREY, as well as having a fast vessel, must have kept a sharp lookout for every favorable breeze. When the Lookout's time is beaten, we want to be informed of it.

COLLISION.

The steamer Ontario, while entering Ogdensburgh, about 8 o'clock on the morning of the 17th inst., ran into and sunk the large bark City of Ogdensburgh—lying at anchor outside in eighty feet of water. She sunk in less than three minutes after the collision, her crew having barely time to escape, with nothing but the clothes which they had on. The vessel was light. The steamer sustained some damage, but nothing very serious.

PASSED DETROIT.

THE RECENT COLLISIONS IN ST. CLAIR RIVER.

A few days since collisions occurred between four or five vessels in the St. Clair Rapids which resulted in a large amount of damage, causing ten or twelve days detention to each vessel for repairs. We have taken pains to procure possession of the facts relative to the above, and herewith give them with a view of exercising in future further disasters, which possibly might be attended with more serious consequences. On the day in question several upward bound vessels, among them the bark E. B. Morgan and brig Mary, of Chicago, were driven back from Lake Huron into the river St. Clair, and in place of coming to at one side or the other of the river, anchored directly across the stream, thus obstructing vessels bound down at night and during a heavy storm of having a clear passage. It is to be regretted a charge of so reckless a character should be brought against the master of any vessel, and as was the case in the above instance, those who had been forewarned of the dangerous course they had taken. It is to be hoped the above caution may be a sufficient warning to others in future not to anchor their vessels in such exposed and dangerous places.—Detroit Free Press.
